[REDACTED] called today with the following information on [REDACTED] in response to the Board members request for further justification as to the relevancy of Tony attending the Conference for Science Executives:

Tony has the position of Deputy Chief, Real Estate and Construction Division and is chief designer of the "Building Planning Staff." Hal said for our information only, it is a $100,000 + building for environmental business. Will be full of computers, terminals, etc. Also he will be dealing continually with State and local government officials. Log feels it would be beneficial for Tony to attend.
